If any sum of money is recoverable from or payable by the Supplier under the Contract (including any sum which the Supplier is liable to pay to UKRI in respect of any breach of the Contract), that sum may be deducted unilaterally by UKRI from any sum then due, or which may come due, to the Supplier under the Contract or under any other agreement or contract with UKRI.

The Supplier shall be solely responsible for making good any damage to UKRI’s premises or any objects contained on UKRI’s premises which is caused by the Supplier or any Staff, other than fair wear and tear.

13.4 If the Supplier supplies all or any of the Goods and/or Services at or from its premises or the premises of a third party, UKRI may, during normal business hours and on reasonable notice, inspect and examine the manner in which the relevant Goods and/or Services are supplied at or from the relevant premises.

14 STAFF AND KEY PERSONNEL

14.1 If UKRI believes that any of the Staff are unsuitable to undertake work in respect of the Contract, it may, by giving written notice to the Supplier:

14.3 Any Key Personnel shall not be released from supplying the Goods and/or Services without the agreement of UKRI, except by reason of long-term sickness, maternity leave, paternity leave, termination of employment or other extenuating circumstances.

14.4 Any replacement to the Key Personnel shall be subject to the prior written agreement of UKRI (not to be unreasonably withheld). Such replacements shall be of at least equal status or of equivalent experience and skills to the Key Personnel being replaced and be suitable for the responsibilities of that person in relation to the Goods and/or Services.

29 CORRUPTION

29.1 Without prejudice to any other rights or remedies available to UKRI, UKRI shall be entitled to terminate the Contract immediately and to recover from the Supplier the amount of any loss resulting from such termination if the Supplier or the Supplier’s Associate:

(a) offers or agrees to give any person working for or engaged by UKRI, UKRI’s staff and agents, or any Public Body any favour, gift or other consideration, which could act as an inducement or a reward for any act or failure to act connected to the Contract, or any other agreement with UKRI or any Public Body;

unless details of any such arrangement have been disclosed in writing to UKRI before the Contract is entered into;

(c) breaches the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Acts 1889 to 1916, or the Bribery Act 2010; or

(d) gives any fee or reward the receipt of which is an offence under Section 117(2) of the Local Government Act 1972.

29.2 The Supplier shall take all reasonable steps, in accordance with Good Industry Practice, to prevent fraud by the Supplier and the Supplier’s Associates in connection with the Contract and shall notify UKRI immediately if it has reason to suspect that any fraud has occurred or is occurring or is likely to occur.

29.3 For the purposes of clause 29.1, “loss” shall include, but shall not be limited to:

31.1 Neither Party to this Contract shall in any circumstances be liable to the other for any delay or non-performance of its obligations under this Contract to the extent that such delay or non-performance is due to a Force Majeure Event. Subject to Clause 31.3, the date for performance of any affected obligations will be suspended for a period equal to the delay caused by the Force Majeure Event.

31.2 If a Party is delayed in or prevented from performing its obligations under this Contract by a Force Majeure Event, such Party shall:

(a) give notice in writing of such delay or prevention to the other Party specifying the nature and extent of the Force Majeure Event immediately on becoming aware of it; and

(b) use all reasonable endeavours to mitigate the effects of the Force Majeure Event on the performance of its obligations.

All negotiations connected with the dispute shall be conducted in confidence and without prejudice to the rights of the Parties in any further proceedings.

32.5 If the Parties fail to appoint a Mediator within one month, or fail to enter into a written agreement resolving the dispute within one month of the Mediator being appointed, either Party may exercise any remedy it has under applicable law.

32.6 Neither Party shall be prevented from, or delayed in, seeking orders for specific performance or interlocutory or final injunctive relief on an ex parte basis or otherwise as a result of the terms of this Clause 32, such clause not applying in respect of any circumstances where such remedies are sought.

33 CHANGE CONTROL PROCEDURE

33.1 In the event that either party desires to change the terms of this Contract, the following procedures will apply:

(a) the Party requesting the change will deliver a “Change Request” (in the form (or substantially in the same form) contained in Schedule 5 to this Contract) which describes:

   (i) the nature of the change;

   (ii) the reason for the change;

   (iii) the effect that the requested change will have on the scope or Specification for the Services; and

   (iv) any change to the Charges and the Term.

(b) Upon receipt of a Change Request, the receiving Party’s authorised representative will contact his/ her counterpart within 5 working days to discuss and agree the Change Request. The parties will negotiate the proposed changes to the Contract in good faith and agree a timeline in which to finalise the Change Notice.

(c) Neither party is obliged to agree to a Change Request, but if the parties do agree to implement such a Change Request, the appropriate authorised representatives of both parties will sign the Change Request which will be effective from the date set out in the Change Request.

(d) If there is any conflict between the terms and conditions set out in the Contract and the Change Request, then the terms and conditions set out in the most recent fully executed Change Request will apply.

(e) The Supplier shall neither be relieved of its obligations to supply the Goods and/or Services in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Contract nor be entitled to an increase in the Charges as the result of:

(i) a General Change in Law; or

(ii) a Specific Change in Law where the effect of that Specific Change in Law on the Goods and/or Services is reasonably foreseeable at the the supply of the Services and/or Goods and the Contract supersedes and replaces any prior written or oral agreements, representations or understandings between them relating to that subject matter. The Parties confirm that they have not entered into the Contract on delivery, first class or recorded post or, subject to clause 35.3, e-mail to the address of the relevant Party set out in the Award Letter, or such other address as that Party may from time to time notify to the other Party in writing.

35.2 Notices served as above shall be deemed served on the Working Day of delivery provided delivery is before 5.00pm on a Working Day. Otherwise delivery shall be deemed to occur on the next Working Day. An email shall be deemed delivered when sent unless an error message is received.

35.3 Notices under clauses 21, 22 and 31 may be served by email only if the original notice is then sent to the recipient by personal delivery or recorded delivery in the manner set out in clause
36  GENERAL

36.1 If any court or competent authority finds that any provision of the Contract (or part of any provision) is invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that provision or part-provision shall, to the extent required, be deemed to be deleted, and the validity and enforceability of the other provisions of the Contract shall not be affected.

36.2 If any invalid, unenforceable or illegal provision of the Contract would be valid, enforceable and legal if some part of it were deleted, the provision shall apply with the minimum modification necessary to make it legal, valid and enforceable.

36.3 A waiver of any right or remedy under the Contract is only effective if given in writing and shall not be deemed a waiver of any subsequent breach or default. No failure or delay by a party to exercise any right or remedy provided under the Contract or by law shall constitute a waiver of that or any other right or remedy, nor shall it preclude or restrict the further exercise of that or any other right or remedy. No single or partial exercise of such right or remedy shall preclude or restrict the further exercise of that or any other right or remedy.

36.4 The Contract shall not constitute or imply any partnership, joint venture, agency, fiduciary relationship or other relationship between the Parties other than the contractual relationship expressly provided for in the Contract. Neither Party shall have, nor represent that it has, any authority to make any commitments on the other Party's behalf.

36.5 A person who is not a Party to this Contract shall have no right to enforce any of its provisions, which expressly or by implication, confer a benefit on him or her, without the prior written agreement of the Parties.

36.6 The Contract cannot be varied except in writing signed by a duly authorised representative of both the Parties.

37  GOVERNING LAW AND JURISDICTION.

37.1 The Contract, and any dispute or claim arising out of or in connection with it or its subject matter or formation (including non-contractual disputes or claims), shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, English law, and the parties irrevocably submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of England and Wales.

1. Introduction

The Future Research Assessment Programme has been initiated at the request of UK and devolved government ministers and funding bodies. This significant piece of work is led by the four UK higher education funding bodies (Research England, Scottish Funding Council, Higher Education Funding Council for Wales and Department for the Economy, NI) and aims to explore possible approaches to the assessment of UK higher education research performance.

One strand of the programme involves the analysis and dissemination of the REF2021 Impact Case Studies. Research England, with its devolved UK partners, the Northern Ireland Department for the Economy, the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales (HEFCW), and the Scottish Funding Council (SFC), wishes to commission a project to deliver the following objectives:

1. Carry out data harvesting and enhancement of all suitable Impact Case Studies, submitted by Higher Education Providers as part of their REF submission
2. Carry out a qualitative and quantitative analysis of the impact case studies, to extract common themes and messages that will form evidence of the broad impact of higher education research on wider society.

This will be the second evaluation of REF Impact Case Studies, with the first being undertaken following REF2014 when Impact Case Studies were formally introduced into the septennial assessment cycle. Subsequently a further study was carried out on REF 2014 Impact Case Studies, aimed at standardising the use of quantitative data as evidence of impact within REF 2021 case studies.

In addition, and as a separate component within this tender, UK Research and Innovation (UKRI) seeks to understand what the case studies reveal about the role of the support provided by wider UKRI (i.e. UKRI funding apart from QR) within the R&I system. This project therefore has a third objective to:

3. Carry out a qualitative and quantitative analysis of the impact case studies that reference specific UKRI-funded elements of the R&I system.

UKRI and Research England will work together to manage these two pieces of work alongside each other, as detailed below.

2. Aims & Objectives
Aims

The overarching aim of this project is to enable the UK Higher Education funding bodies and HE sector more widely to better understand the nature, scale and beneficiaries of the impact of UK universities’ research. Running alongside this tender the REF2021 team will be creating an online searchable database to house the case studies for public access, to be available in Summer 2021. The database of REF 2014 impact case studies can be found here. The objective to provide the REF team with a structured dataset derived from the harvesting and enhancement of data from the Impact Case Study submissions will therefore need to be prioritised to meet this database launch in Summer 2022.

Upon the provision of the structured dataset, the project should then move on to the two analytical components of this tender, to be presented by way of two separate written reports summarising and analysing the evidence contained in the case studies pertinent to the component pieces.

The aim of the UK Higher Education funding bodies’ analysis of the impact case studies is to extract and synthesise common themes and messages to describe the broad impact of HE research on wider society.

The UKRI-focussed component of this work aims to analyse those case studies which reference specific aspects of UKRI support. The objectives of this are two-fold: to provide evidence of impact from UKRI funding, and to inform strategy development through helping UKRI to understand how impact is being achieved.

In their application the successful bidder needs to provide a broad overview of their approach to an analysis of the impact case studies and the methodology utilised in the evaluation of research impact, considering both the FRAP questions and the UKRI questions.

Objectives

1. Data Harvesting and Enhancement of Impact Case Studies

Prior to any analysis of the Impact Case Studies, the successful bidder will be required to harvest and enhance the data contained within the ca. 7,000 submitted Impact Case Studies. This would include (but not be not limited to): data extraction, disambiguation, validation and enhanced categorisation and tagging to include the following categories: research subject area, impact location (broken down by country and region), impact types and project funders. Further categories may be suggested in discussion with the FRAP and REF teams.

The enhanced/tagged dataset will be utilised by the REF 2021 team to populate the case studies database and it is expected that you will work closely with the responsible REF officer in provisioning a copy of this structured data.

In order to enable comparisons to be drawn with existing REF2014 impact case study database and analyses, the following categorisations of impact must be used:

- Political, Legal, Health, Cultural, Technological, Societal, Economic, and Environmental.

Further emergent sub-categories of impact may be recommended by the successful applicant, but the above categories are intended to serve as the top level.

In order to meet a tight deadline to make the enhanced data available for uploading to the REF database, we expect applicants to prioritise the research subject tagging component.
In their application the successful bidder will be able to describe how they will approach the required data manipulation, with reference to the structure in which they have been submitted, both to inform the analysis and evaluation, and also to provide the structured data that will populate a searchable online database.

2. Higher Education funding bodies’ analysis of the Impact Case Studies

In evaluating the breadth and depth of Higher Education’s research impact as represented in the REF case studies, the key questions which the funding bodies wish to address are listed below. These questions may be further refined and prioritised in discussion with the funding bodies following the contract award.

1. What types of impact outcomes have been submitted to the REF? How does this vary by discipline/by user type (beneficiary)/by institution?

2. What are the pathways by which different types of impact outcome have been realised? How does this vary by discipline /by user type (beneficiary)/by institution?

3. To what extent are ‘negative’ findings included in the impact case studies or are only ‘positive’ stories submitted. Are ‘learning’ type impacts reported?

4. What are the time lags between underpinning research and impact outcome exampled in the impact case studies? How does this vary between types of impact, user and disciplines?

5. To what extent does the conclusion from the REF 2014 analysis that it is not possible to estimate overall return on investment still stand?

6. According to the impact case studies, what types of research users benefit from HE research, and to what extent?

7. What are the characteristics of the underpinning research outputs on which impact case studies are based (in terms of methodologies, approaches or research topics)? Do these vary by type of impact?

8. What is the role of inter- and multi-disciplinary research in leading to impact?

9. Can we learn anything about how research collaboration affects impact?

10. How does the impact described in the REF case studies relate to the Government’s economic/industry strategies and those of the other devolved administrations?

11. Can we learn anything about connections between the social and economic impact of research and related citation data?

12. What are the effects of changes brought in since REF2014 including allowing the submission of continued case studies and the impacts on teaching within the institution?

13. Can we identify how HEIs contribute to government policy priorities in the UK and devolved administrations, for example Covid-19, Net zero, increasing productivity, UK’s global influence, through a series of deep dives into impact.

14. What comparisons can be drawn with REF2014 Impact Case Studies and their evaluation? Have any standards changed since it was first introduced, for example, are units utilising standardised impact measures and has the language or narrative altered?

15. Where continued case studies from REF2014 are evidenced, what is the volume and distribution of these across disciplines and impact types?
16. What do the case studies tell us about the role of funding that is less likely to have been referenced in the case studies (e.g., underpinning and earlier investments or block-grant funding such as QR or REG)? Is there a way to identify this funding e.g. tracking through the referenced papers?

3. UKRI Analysis of Impact Case Studies

The key questions for the UKRI-focussed component are:

17. What do the case studies tell us about the role of the support provided by wider UKRI (i.e. UKRI funding apart from QR) in the R&I funding landscape?
   a. For case studies that reference UKRI support, what types of impact outcomes have been submitted to the REF? How does this vary by discipline/by user type (beneficiary)/by institution?
   b. For case studies that reference UKRI support, what are the pathways by which different types of impact outcome have been realised? How does this vary by discipline/by user type (beneficiary)/by institution?
   c. For case studies that reference UKRI support, what types of research users benefit, from what sectors, and to what extent?
   d. For case studies that reference UKRI support, what is the role of inter- and multi-disciplinary research in leading to impact?
   e. What do the case studies tell us about UKRI’s role in the R&I funding landscape? For case studies that reference UKRI support, what is the role of other funders and partners in the pathways to impact?
   f. What do the case studies tell us about how UKRI support leverages/unlocks industry funding, and how this relates to impact?
   g. What do the case studies tell us about the role of UKRI capability in supporting impact? Including UKRI infrastructure, facilities and datasets; and UKRI research institutes.
   h. What do the case studies tell us about the role of and interplay between different parts of UKRI and different UKRI funding streams in supporting the delivery of impact?

18. What do the case studies tell us about impact arising from UKRI support? In particular we are interested in identifying strong case studies/examples including:
   a. Significant research breakthroughs and how they relate to impact;
   b. Particular UK regions/places – cluster impacts;
   c. Impacts underpinned by UKRI infrastructure, networks, facilities and datasets;
   d. Impacts underpinned by capability/outputs of UKRI research institutes, catapults and campuses; and
   e. Impacts related to government policy priorities in the UK, for example Covid-19, Net zero, increasing productivity, UK’s global influence.

Subquestions 17a-d and 18e are versions of questions asked within the FRAP component of the work, and we would expect a similar methodology to be used.
3. Background to the Requirement
Future Research Assessment Programme (FRAP)

The piece of work detailed here forms part of the Future Research Assessment Programme, initiated at the request of UK and devolved government ministers and led by the four UK higher education funding bodies and aims to explore possible approaches to the assessment of UK higher education research performance.

Through dialogue with the higher education sector, the programme seeks to understand what a healthy, thriving research system looks like and how an assessment model can best form its foundation. The work strands include evaluation of the current Research Excellence Framework, understanding international research assessment practice, as well as investigating possible evaluation models and approaches, looking to identify those that can encourage and strengthen the emphasis on delivering excellent research and impact, and support a positive research culture, while simplifying and reducing the administrative burden on the HE sector.

Research Excellence Framework

The REF is the UK’s system for assessing the quality of research in UK higher education institutions. The REF was first carried out in 2014, replacing the previous Research Assessment Exercise. The REF is undertaken by the four UK higher education funding bodies: Research England, the Scottish Funding Council (SFC), the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales (HEFCW), and the Department for the Economy, Northern Ireland (DfE).

The funding bodies’ shared policy aim for research assessment is to secure the continuation of a world-class, dynamic and responsive research base across the full academic spectrum within UK higher education. They expect that this will be achieved through the threefold purpose of the REF:

• To provide accountability for public investment in research and produce evidence of the benefits of this investment.
• To provide benchmarking information and establish reputational yardsticks, for use within the HE sector and for public information.
• To inform the selective allocation of funding for research.

The REF is a process of expert review, carried out by expert panels for each of the 34 subject-based units of assessment (UOAs), under the guidance of four main panels. Expert panels are made up of senior academics, international members, and research users.

For each submission, three distinct elements are assessed: the quality of outputs (e.g. publications, performances, and exhibitions), their impact beyond academia, and the environment that supports research.

The submissions for REF 2021 closed on 31 March 2021. 157 universities are participating in REF 2021. Over 185,000 research outputs have been submitted for assessment by expert panels. The assessment will take place in 2021/22. Results will be published in May 2022. REF outcomes

In the REF, institutions make submissions to units of assessment and quality profiles are produced for each submission. Outputs, impact case studies and environment templates receive individual scores, which are deleted once the overall quality profile has been agreed. The quality profile will show the proportions of research activity judged to meet each of four starred quality levels, in steps of one per cent. Details of how quality profiles are formulated and presented can be found in Annex B of the Guidance on Submissions. Alongside the quality profile, the funding bodies will publish: the output, impact and environment sub-profiles that were combined to produce the overall quality profile for each submission; the FTE number of staff included in each submission (Category A submitted staff); and the proportion of the eligible staff included as Category A submitted staff in the submission. Quality profiles from REF 2014 can be found here: https://results.ref.ac.uk/(S(4dcm3m4hqrthklhcl4gwjpr))/Results/.

One of the stated purposes of the REF is to provide benchmarking information and reputational yardsticks. An independent review of the REF, carried out in 2016, noted that the exercise also provides ‘a rich evidence base to inform strategic decisions about national priorities across science, social science, engineering, medicine and arts and humanities research’.
In addition to the quality profiles for individual submissions, several analyses were carried out across the 2014 results, looking at, for example: average results across and within main panels, output scores by output type, scores for interdisciplinary outputs. Each main panel also published a report confirming its working methods and providing an overview of its observations about the state of research (strengths, weaknesses, vitality of activity and scope of impacts achieved) in the areas falling within its remit. These reports included a section provided by each sub-panel.

UKRI

UKRI was established in 2018, bringing together Research England, Innovate UK, and the seven thematic research councils. Our mission is to convene, catalyse and invest in close collaboration with others to build a thriving, inclusive research and innovation system that connects discovery to prosperity and public good. The REF impact case studies provide us with valuable evidence and insight into the impact of UK research and innovation, and the role and impact of UKRI support.

| 52 | UKRI Goods & Services Contract (High Value) v1.2 |
The scope of this programme of work is ambitious and we therefore encourage tenders to outline how they will meet the case study data enhancement and analytical components in the time available, noting that the data enhancement must take priority in the first instance. We expect that tenders will need to prioritise the analytical questions presented in the aims and objectives section in order to fulfil the order within good time.

We further anticipate, owing to the potential for further Covid restrictions, that resourcing may present issues during the lifetime of this programme of work. An acknowledgement of how the applicant could address potential resourcing issues should be made.

In order to meet these objectives, the contracting organisation will need to be aware of and review the following documents and files. The successful tender will also be expected to seek out and review other useful sources of information that would inform an evaluation of this nature.

The outputs in scope to be reviewed and analysed by the successful bidder are as follows:

1. All Impact Case Studies submitted to REF2021 that are considered non-confidential in nature. This will be in the region of 6,700 case studies.
2. All publicly available impact case studies from REF2014.
4. The nature, scale and beneficiaries of research impact: An initial analysis of Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2014 impact case studies – a report by Kings College London and Digital Science
5. Guidance for standardising quantitative indicators of impact within REF case studies – a report by RAND Europe
6. Data on UKRI funding and support

Time period to be covered by the evaluation
The successful bidder is expected to commence in June 2022, following an inception meeting. The case study database is expected to be made publicly available in Summer 2022 and therefore the enhanced and structured data will need to be provided in good time and ahead of this launch. The final evaluation is expected to be published by December 2022, but an applicant can make the case for an extended period for the final submission of the analytical components within the budget provided.

Ethics and governance
The bidder is invited to explain how the evaluation process will be conducted in accordance with high ethical standards.

Data protection and security
The bidder is invited to outline how the evaluation will be conducted in accordance with relevant data protection and security standards (GDPR), including how they will safely store, use and destroy sensitive materials and other information collected as part of the evaluation.

All data compiled, or used, along with all analysis and reporting relating to them, are to be provided to RE and partners at the end of the contract, such that it will be possible to hand over, in full, to contracting organisations or third parties under contract to them, for the purposes of additional research and evaluation. Data must be collected in such a way to enable this to happen. Proposals must state how this will be achieved, including how any data protection issues will be resolved.

Coronavirus
This evaluation may well take place within restrictions related to controlling the Covid pandemic. The proposed methodology will need to account for this and have contingency plans for any further restrictions where needed.

3. Structured Data – provision of the structured data to be used in the Impact Case Study analysis, and to populate a publicly accessible online database. In order to meet a tight deadline to make the enhanced data available for uploading to the REF database, we expect applicants to prioritise the research subject tagging component.

   2. an overview of the REF2021 impact case studies;
      i. an evaluation of research impact;
      ii. a series of deep dives into germane areas of impact, for example the impact on strategic UK priorities;
      iii. Concluding remarks and reflections on the evaluation and lessons for future iterations of the REF in regard to research impact.

   b) 1st Draft of UKRI evaluation

6. a) Full Draft Report for comment and sign-off by FRAP – an annotatable copy of the final draft for comment and suggested edits. This should include a description of the intended publishable format and layout for comment.

   b) Full Draft Report for comment and sign-off by UKRI

7. a) Final, quality assured, accessible report for review and sign off by FRAP – alongside the final report, the successful bidder should include a presentational digital slide deck which provides a high-level overview of the methodology and evaluation, and showcases examples of excellent research impact. b) Final, quality assured, accessible report for review and sign off by UKRI
8. a) The data underlying the analysis for FRAP – the successful bidder should provide all of the data underlying the analysis.

b) The data underlying the analysis for UKRI

Communications
The successful bidder will be expected to participate in the following communications (which will be flexible according to the needs to the evaluation and milestones, and also undertaken remotely in accordance with any Covid related limitations) and the submission should provide a timeline for these alongside the dates for other key deliverables/milestones:

1. An initiation meeting with the project management team (FRAP and UKRI component) upon the contract being awarded

The exit plan must include information on how UKRI data will be handed back and then destroyed from the Supplier’s systems.

2 Consequences of expiry or early termination of this Contract

2.2.3 any Personal Data Processed by the Supplier on behalf of UKRI shall be returned to UKRI or destroyed in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Data Protection Protocol.
2.3 The Supplier shall retain all data relating to the provision of the Services that are not transferred or destroyed pursuant to Clause 2.2.3 for the Term and six (6) years afterwards, or such longer period as may be agreed between the Parties, full and accurate records of all matters relating to this Contract.

2.4 The Supplier shall cooperate fully with UKRI or, as the case may be, any replacement supplier during any re-procurement and handover period prior to and following the expiry or earlier termination of this Contract. This cooperation shall extend to providing access to all information relevant to the operation of this Contract as reasonably required by UKRI to achieve a fair and transparent re-procurement and/or an effective transition without disruption to routine operational requirements.

2.5 Immediately upon expiry or earlier termination of this Contract any license or lease entered into shall automatically terminate.

2.6 The expiry or earlier termination of this Contract for whatever reason shall not affect any rights or obligations of either Party which accrued prior to such expiry or earlier termination.
